

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

THEMES
The Indigenous Experience In Australia	Power and Control	Family	Oppression, Discrimination, and Prejudice	Tolerance and Understanding	Endurance and Resilience

ACT 1

Prologue: Aftermath

Summary: Nan Dear and Gladys are cleaning up after the flood

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Que sera, sera Whatever will be, will be. The future's not ours to see. Que sera, sera' – the song Que Sera, Sera plays	123	Resilience/Indigenous experience
'Now she covers the hessian with pages from a magazine. Nan Dear: [pointing to some magazines] Pass those Gladys: They're Dolly's. Nan Dear: They're dry. ' – fixing the house after the flood	123	Indigenous experience/ resilience
'Gladys: It'll be alright. Dolly: You always say that.' – dolly upset about her magazines being ruined	123	resilience

Act: 1 , Scene: 1A, The Queen's Visit

Summary: Gladys prepares for a goes to Queen's visit. Dolly tries to complete a family tree before going to school. Nan Dear doesn't want to talk about her past and doesn't like that Gladys is going to see the Queen

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Nan Dear: ... You're going into town then, for all that hullabaloo.' – Gladys going to see the queen's visit	124
'Nan Dear: And why not cousins? What kind of a fool thing...? You need to know who your cousin are. So you don't marry 'em.' – dolly making a family tree	125	family
'Nan Dear: My birth certificate says 'Murray River'. Born there and, by crikey, I'm gunna go back and die there. Dolly: Nan. You're not gunna die. You're gonna live forever. Nan Dear: Well, of course I'm not gunna die. Not here, anyways. Gotta go back to me old place to do that. And I'll have a feed of- Dolly: Swan eggs. Nan Dear: ...Swan eggs, before I go.'	125	Family / indigenous experience
'Dolly: ...Nan, if you love that Murray River so much, why don't you still live there? Nan Dear: [bitter, half to herself] They forced us to leave. Forced us to leave Cummeragunja. Our home.	126	Oppression and discrimination / indigenous experience

RANDOMS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Dolly: Who, Nan? Who did? But NAN doesn't want to talk about that business and DOLLY knows it'
'Nan Dear: Quick... go. But keep away from them cork trees. Dolly: Yes, Nan. You've told me a hundred times.' – cork trees are where bad people hangout	126

Act: 1 , Scene: 1B, The queen's Visit

Summary: Gladys returns from the Queen's visit and it took longer because the roads were covered. Nan Dear reveals Papa Dear came to visit after his meeting with the Queen

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Gladys: The hessian they lined the road with. The hessian that I couldn't get through and couldn't even peek over. Dolly: What they do that for? Gladys: Stop the likes of her seeing our humpies' – they put hessian over the road so the queen couldn't visit the Flats	127	Oppression and discrimination
'Gladys: If they'd given us better houses... But hessian! Like a band-aid over a sore-'	127	Oppression and discrimination
'Nan Dear: Gladys, get off your high horse. Least here we do things our way – no one breathin' down our necks. Not like those last days at Cummeragunja.'	128	Oppression and discrimination / power and control
'Nan Dear: She's not my queen.'	128	Power and control

Act: 1 , Scene: 2A, Oh, Errol

Summary: Gladys listens to Pick-A-Box, a quiz show, on the radio. Dolly says she could be a contestant. Nan doesn't like the show or the radio. Dolly is told she can't marry anyone because they're all related to her

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Nan Dear: [to herself] Oh, that. [Gives the radio a dirty look] Thought you were talkin' sense for once' – Gladys is listening to a quiz show on the radio	129
'Nan Dear: Can't teach an old dog new tricks' – Dolly offers to teach Nan the hockey-pokey	130
'Gladys: You can't marry anyone- ... Gladys: - least not till you've finished your studies. And get a good job. In town-' – Dolly was talking to a boy who was her uncles cousin	131	family
'Nan Dear: French verbs! Mink stoles! You put ideas into that girl's head. Gladys: She needs to know the world is bigger than just this. Nan Dear: She doesn't need to know any more than she does.	131	Endurance and resilience

Act: 1 , Scene: 2B, Oh, Errol

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Summary: Errol comes to sell encyclopedias, but they can't afford them. Dolly and Errol show attraction towards each other. Nan doesn't like Errol because he's white

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Once they have passed each other they look back and check each other out-an instant spark of attraction passing between them.' - Dolly and Errol meet	132
'Dolly: ... Here's where all the toffs live. The whitefellas in their fancy new homes that mum reckons they think is too good for blackfellas.' - Dolly redirects Errol to the white neighbourhoods	135	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice
'Nan Dear: We only pick 'cos that's all they'll let us do.' - Gladys wants Dolly talking to people with better jobs than picking	136	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice
'Nan Dear: ... Hardly got two pennies to rub together.' - can't afford the encyclopedias	136	Indigenous experience
'Nan Dear: ... You watch who you're mixing with. Hard to tell a good man from a bad. Bad one will promise you everything, then do the straight opposite, just like that.' - warning Dolly about Errol	138	discrimination and prejudice

Act: 1 , Scene: 3, Lino

Summary: Dolly gets lino from the tip . Errol visits and they talk about the city. Dolly doesn't want him inside so she lies about a baby being inside. Gladys gets a bookcase from the tip. Dolly doesn't want Errol knowing she gets things from the tip.

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Nan Dear: Show some respect, girl. They've had it hard, those lads. Dolly: How, Nan? Nan Dear: Never mind. They just have.' - talking about the cork tree boys, who are her cousins, and have been harassing her	139	Indigenous experience / oppression / power and control
'Dolly: Why? What's she saving for? Nan Dear: Grown-up business.'	140	Power and control
'Errol: It's made out of a can!... How do you do that? You people make something out of nothing. ... I, ah, I mean, I'm not trying to... to... Dolly: [bitter] 'You people'? '	140/141	Discrimination / tolerance and understanding / endurance and resilience
'Dolly: Would I? Nan wouldn't like that. City's full of sin.' - Errol tells her about jobs in the city	141	prejudice
'Errol: ... Just needs a lick of paint. Gladys: That's what I thought.' - Gladys gets a bookcase from the tip	142/143	Tolerance and understanding / endurance and resilience

Act: 1 , Scene: 4, House of Biba

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Summary: They talk about Papa Dear. Dolly wants to try for a summer job but Nan refuses, saying she'll work as a picker or at the cannery like them. Nan tells Gladys that they'd never let an Aboriginal girl work there

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Nan Dear: You haven't set a spot for Papa Dear. Dolly: What's the point? Nana Dear: Just do it. Dolly: It's been three months. Nan Dear: He's busy doing good work. God's work and hard work Gladys: ... He could walk through that door any day now.' – Papa Dear works as a pastor, currently working in Western Australia	143	Family
'Nan Dear: You'll be at the Blue Moon. With us. As usual. Gladys: [hopefully] But it sounds like a good job... a good opportunity... But Nan will brook no argument. She shakes her head and that's that. ' – there's an opportunity for Dolly to work cash register at Trevaks	143/144	Indigenous experience

Act: 1 , Scene: 5, The Delivery

Summary: Errol visits to drop off the first edition of the encyclopedias. He asks Dolly to a dance and she reluctantly agrees as she know people won't like a white guy dancing with an aboriginal girl. They dance a bit before Nan sends him away, through a dangerous shortcut

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Dolly glares at Gladys who is oblivious.' – Dolly is embarrassed that Errol is seeing home little money they have	145	Indigenous experience
'Errol takes a quick sip and nearly gags. Errol: Just lovely, ma'am.' – he drinks the coffee they gave him	146	Tolerance and understanding
'Dolly: Nan likes to be near all the other families. And Mum does too...' – Errol asks why they don't live in town	147	family
'Dolly: Listen, fella. Do you have any idea what'll happen if you walk into that dance with me? Errol: Uh, no... [Worried] Is there some other bloke on the scene? Is that it? Will some fella want to punch me on the nose for sweet-talking his girl? Dolly: You're white. I'm Aboriginal. Or haven't you noticed? Errol: Well, yes... but... Dolly: I'm from the Flats. Not even one of those townie types of cross-over Aboriginals. Errol: What matters is you. Not your address... Dolly: That's sweet.' – Errol invites Dolly to a dance in town	148/149	Discrimination / tolerance and understanding
'Nan looks daggers at Errol. Nan Dear: It's getting dark. Very dark. Time for you to move on. Take the short cut, past the cork trees.' – cork trees are where the bad kids hang and Nan doesn't like Errol	150	prejudice

Act: 1 , Scene: 6, The Inspection

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Summary: Nan has a bad feeling about the neighbour, Aunt Ester. The inspector comes to see the family and the house. We learn that Mr Baker, Gladys' husband, died in the war.

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Inspector: The Aborigine needs to be absorbed into the community. But how can he be absorbed until he learns to live like us? I will recommend assimilation, in my report. It is a vexed issue, to be sure, but someone must take leadership. First, the housing problem must be fixed... After all, how can the children study in the evening if there is no electric light?'	152	Indigenous experience / prejudice
'Dolly: What is he here for? Why is he checking us out? And who is he? Nan Dear: Never mind you. ... Dolly: Nan, why do you always treat me like a child?' - Dolly asking about the inspector	153	Power and control
'Nan shakes her head and vanishes outside to hide the anxiety she is feeling.' - nan had a bad feeling about the neighbour, Aunt Ester, but it's too late now	153
Nan Dear: [an outburst] And what bloody good would that do?! Daydreams! Gladys: [to herself] They're not really daydreams... Because she intends to make them come true. ' - Gladys wants to see the report but Nan thinks he wants to take Dolly away	154	endurance

Act: 1 , Scene: 7, The Turn

Summary: Gladys goes to a fundraiser to try and advocate for better housing. Dolly is going to the dance with Errol, but Nan pretends to be sick and dying so Dolly won't go.

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'The light changes for Gladys' dream sequence. A tap appears from nowhere and from it flows blue jewels in an approximation of water.' - Gladys dreams of running water	155	Endurance
'Nan hides the shoes' - doesn't want dolly to go to dance	156	Power and control
'Nan Dear:... But you'd better be off... Go out, kick up your heels, love... Don't mind me here all alone. ... Dolly: You sure? Nan Dear: Though I do feel like a serve of swan eggs... Dolly: Swan eggs? You're ok, aren't you, Nan?' - Nan pretends to be sick; she wants swan eggs before she dies.	157	Power and control / family
'Nan looks relieved, then remembers to cough again.' - Nan pretend to be sick so Dolly doesn't go to the dance with Errol	157	Power and control

Act: 1 , Scene: 8, Washing-Day Blues

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Summary: Nan and Dolly hang up washing and talk. They hear about a ball on the radio and Nan lets Dolly go, because Errol isn't going to be there. Gladys heard about a job at the bank for Dolly.

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Dolly: But is it 'cos they look her boys? Nan shoots her a look of warning Dolly: I want to know. I'm not a child. I'm a woman, Nan. Nan will not answer' – the inspector took Auntie Esters kids so she's drinking with the cork tree boys	158	Power and control
'Dolly: What do you want from me, Mum? Do you want me to walk like them, talk like them, wear a twinset like them? Pretend to be one of them?' – Gladys said Dolly could do a bank manager job because Nancy could	158	Power and control / oppression / resilience
'Nan Dear: At least here we sink or swim on our own. Not like the Cummeragunji days, always at the mercy of the manager-'	159	oppression
'Gladys: You ask me what I want. Well, I want what any mother, black, white, or brindle, wants for her daughter. That's all.'	159	family
'Dolly: Nan... why don't we have a normal life? Nan Dear: This is normal- Dolly: Getting flooded all the time- Nan Dear: It's just the way it is. That's nature. Dolly: But why? It's like we're fighting nature all the time. Living on the riverbank- Nan Dear: You're the one who's fighting. You and your mother. Fighting against how things are. Dolly: What's wrong with that? Papa Dear fights for things to get better.'	159	oppression

Act: 1 , Scene: 9, Home Sweet Home

Summary: Gladys and Dolly talk about the encyclopedias. They argue. Gladys is mad that Nan gave Dolly permission to go to the ball without asking her. Gladys is happy for Dolly to go to the ball with Errol, having talked to him when she made another payment for the books.

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Gladys: You do think they're wonderful, though? You're 'expanding your possibilities'? Dolly: Of course, Mum. Every day I learn something new about the big, wide world. The see-through section with the body-the muscles, and the bones, and the veins-that's my favourite. I love reading about the gizzards.' – about they encyclopedias, Dolly wants to be a nurse	161	Endurance and resilience
'Dolly:... It's me that gets stones thrown at her when I walk down the street. It's me that gets snide remarks. Gladys: You think I haven't had my fair share? Or Nan? Even Papa Dear-not even he escapes it. Don't think he doesn't get put in his place. [Beat] You have to learn not to let them shame you. Dolly: Have you, Mum? Have you learnt not to be shamed by them? [Beat] I thought not. You're always telling me to stick	162	Indigenous experience / discrimination, prejudice, and oppression up for myself, but when do you, eh?’

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

--------------------------------------	--	--

Act: 1 , Scene: 10, The Bank vs Mrs Banks

Summary: Gladys goes to the bank to get Dolly the job there. She sticks up for herself and Dolly, getting the bank manager to let Dolly apply for the job.

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
‘Gladys: She’d be an asset. She’s a hard worker. She knows all about hard work. She’s honest. She’s polite. She deserves a break. One little break. Are you going to be the one to offer her that break, sir?’ - telling the bank manager to give the job to dolly	164	Endurance and resilience / power and control

Act: 1 , Scene: 11, The Ball

Summary: Errol and Dolly go to the ball, and people are staring at them. Nancy wins the best-dressed and announces that Dolly’s dress is made from her curtains that went into the tip. Dolly runs away and is attacked by her cousins and Errol is to when he tries to help her. Dolly runs away

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
‘Dolly: They’re looking at us. Errol: That’s ‘cos you’re the prettiest girl here. Dolly: I’m not sure... Errol: I am. You look a picture, Dolores. I said that. Dolly: You did. Errol: Well, you do. [Teasing her] And you haven’t stepped on my toes once.’ – Errol takes Dolly to the ball and people are watching them	165	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice / indigenous experience
‘Dolly: They are looking at us. Nancy Woolthorpe, and the others. Errol: She’s probably jealous. Not to be mean, but you look much nicer than she does.’ – Nancy is a popular, rich white girl	166	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice / indigenous experience
‘Nancy: [voiceover] Why if it isn’t Miss Dolores Banks herself. Love your dress, Dolly. Love the fabric. [With a giggle] My mother quite liked it too. When it was our sunroom curtains. But, you know, I thought we took them to the tip. Dolly is frozen in shame Dolly: [to herself] My ball gown? Courtesy of the town bloody tip?’	166	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice / indigenous experience
‘Dolly: Get your hands off me! Errol: Why, you don’t treat a lady like that- Cousin: [offstage] She’s no lady, she’s just a little- The big-band sound strikes up inside the hall. A drink goes flying, a punching sound, then another. Errol staggers back into the weak light, holding his eye. Dolly runs through the light, sobbing, her dress slightly ripped. Cousin: [offstage] See you later then, Doll- Errol: Dolly? Dolly? But she’s gone. ’ – Dolly’s cousin attacks her and then Errol	167	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice / indigenous experience

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

outside the ball
------------------	--	--

Act: 1 , Scene: 12, Storm Brewing

Summary: Gladys thinks Dolly is having a good time at the ball but Nan has a bad feeling

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme

Act: 1 , Scene: 13, Waters Rising

Summary: Errol finds Dolly after the ball. They talk about their families and Errol asks her to move to the city with him. He thinks her life isn't good, and that she could do better. She refuses and storms away. Her cousin finds her and sounds malicious

Quote - Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Dolly: Nice? You heard them. It'll never change... some things never do.' - dolly is upset about what happened at the ball	168	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice / indigenous experience
'Errol: the point is, you could live in a real home, for the first time. Dolly: a real home? Errol: We could even save for wall-to-wall carpet... I want to spoil you. You deserve it. You deserve better. Dolly: Better' - Errol asks Dolly to move to the city with him	171	Prejudice / power and control
'Dolly: But... a real home? A real home is where there are people looking out for each other. [Beat] Do they do that in your home, in your family, Errol? Errol: Well... Dolly: [to herself] Don't matter is the floors are dirt. Don't matter one bit- Errol: [demanding] Hang on. Are you saying you'd rather live in a humpy by the river? When I'm promising you the world? Dolly: Your world. And you're just assuming that your world is better. But actually, when I think about it-when I think about that nasty Nancy-she has everything that opens and shuts. I'm not so sure it is better. I wouldn't trade places with her for anything. And as far as what you're offering... no thank you. This is my place. I'm staying right here with my mum and my nan. Errol: But Dolly- Dolly: No, Errol. Our life isn't perfect, but like Nan says, it's ours. And you don't respect that. I'm sorry-'	172	Prejudice / power and control / family

Act: 1 , Scene: 14, The Flood

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Summary: Nan and Gladys pack things away before the flood comes. The police come to evacuate them. Dolly returns and pushes her way in past the police. Gladys sends the police to Aunty Ester's. It is implied Dolly's been assaulted by her cousin.

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Gladys: I have done this before, mum. [to herself] only about a thousand times.' – Gladys and Nan are packing up before the flood hits	173	Indigenous experience
'Gladys: ... Oh my god. What has happened to you? She wails like a banshee. Rain, thunder, darkness. Time passes. The water rises. ' Dolly returns from the ball and pushes her way into the flooding house. It is implied that she has been assaulted by her cousin.	175	Oppression

THEMES
The Indigenous Experience In Australia	Power and Control	Family	Oppression, Discrimination, and Prejudice	Tolerance and Understanding	Endurance and Resilience

ACT 2

Act: 2 , Scene: 1, After The Flood

Summary: Nan, Gladys, and Dolly return to the humpy, ruined by the flood. The encyclopedias are ruined and Dolly is still a wreck. Errol comes to apologise and sees what has happened to Dolly. He is forced to leave by Gladys and Nan; Dolly tells them it wasn't him.

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Gladys has discovered the box of encyclopedias and she's distracted, so she hasn't listened to the others. Nan hands Gladys a cup of tea. Gladys: Least the tea was dry, eh? Nan notices the encyclopedias Nan Dear: Oh, my... oh, Gladys... Dolly doesn't even register Nan Dear: Every one Gladys? Every single one, ruined? Gladys: Never mind. Nan Dear: Never mind! They were your dream- Gladys: [fiercely] No! No! They're only possessions. And what do they matter? People is what matters.' – the encyclopedias have been ruined by the flood but Gladys only cares about Dolly	176	Family
'Nan Dear: I've been thinking... Gladys... If you still want to move to Rumbalara... It'd be better for the girl.'	176	Family
.Gladys: [whispering to nan] Should we send word to Papa	177	Indigenous

RANDOMS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Dear? Nan Dear: [whispering back] I think... best not. It's women's business.'		Experience
'Errol appears with a determined look on his face. Errol: Dolly, I'm sorry. I've come to beg your [forgiveness] -'	177	Tolerance and Understanding
'Errol: [devastated] I thought you knew me. Gladys: I thought I did too The two women move to stand by Dolly's side, in unity. Devastated, Errol turns and leaves. They watch him depart, still angry.'	177	Family

Act: 2 , Scene: 2, The Move To Rumbalara

Summary: They move to new housing and they're old humpy is bulldozed

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Nan and Gladys hold their humble possessions as the sound of the bulldozers is heard. Their humpy disappears.'	178	Indigenous experience
'the lights go down, then come up on the new housing. It's concrete, small, white, and featureless. It's anything but lovable.'	178	Indigenous experience
'Nan Dear: Not quite the 'new deal' Gladys: No. Nan Dear: [grimly] I'll make curtains. Gladys Yes, Mum. Thank you.	178	Indigenous experience

Act: 2 , Scene: 3, The Broadcast

Summary: Dolly is still dejected and depressed. She fights with Gladys telling her to fix her own house, so Gladys goes to the council meeting and makes a speech. Dolly and Nan hear her over the radio

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Gladys: It's an opportunity Dolly: It's an interview for a job I'm not going to get. And that you want, not me. [to herself] Why doesn't anyone ask what I want?' – Dolly got a letter from the bank, probably about the job Gladys applied to for her	178	Power and control
'Dolly: she wants me to go for that bank job. Nan Dear: You told her that's silly? Dolly: Of course. How will I ever get a job now?' – Dolly doesn't think she'll get a job because of her assault and the devastation from the flood	179	Indigenous experience / discrimination, oppression, and prejudice
'Dolly: Nan, you never sit down and read. Nan Dear: [whispering] I can't in front of her. Dolly: [whispering back] She's not here [loudly] so just go and read it. For once. Gosh, Nan.' – Nan can't read in front of Gladys (reason unknown)	180
'Gladys: [voiceover] Oi! Re the so-called 'housing problem', it is a housing problem because us Aboriginals- Chairman: [voiceover] Madam...	181	Endurance and resilience / power and

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Gladys: [voiceover] -us Aboriginals are not welcome in the townships- Chairman: [voiceover] Madam! Gladys needs to fight to be heard over the roars of the councillors Gladys: [voiceover] And apart from those concrete humpies that you built-call them houses? Chairman: [voiceover] Order! I must insist- Gladys: [voiceover] And what about the other families? If you won't let us build our own houses on higher ground- Chairman: [voiceover] the Chair does not recognise this- Gladys: [voiceover] -as if we choose to live on a floodplain-not realising that we need water too-to cook and to clean- Chairman: [voiceover] There are protocols! If you read the rules- Gladys: [voiceover] Maybe you don't think we do wash- Chairman: [voiceover] Eject this interloper- Gladys: [voiceover] I'm not an interloper-I belong here-this is my land! Chairman: [voiceover] Madam, read the rules! Eject her! Crowd: [voiceover] Hear! Hear! Gladys: [voiceover] I haven't finished. In fact, I'm just starting re 'the housing problem'... Her voice fades out as she is being led away' – Gladys interrupts the council meeting		control
'Nan Dear: But my daughter. My Gladys! Did you hear her? She's practically hugging the radio as if it were Gladys. Nan Dear: I didn't think you had it in you daught. [to Dolly] Did you? Dolly: Not really. They dance a little jig around the radio as the lights fade.'	182	family

Act: 2 , Scene: 4, The Contract

Summary: Errol comes for the encyclopedia contract, but they cant pay so they have to cancel the contact in writing. We find out the Gladys cant read or write so Errol helps her. Errol wants to see Dolly but Gladys doesn't think it's a good idea. Gladys asked Errol to teach her to read and write and he agrees

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Errol: But it has to be done in writing. Gladys: Well, I can't, can I ? [beat] I can't. Errol: You mean, you can't write? Gladys: You're slow on the uptake, lad.' – the contract for the encyclopedias needs to be cancelled in writing but Gladys can't read or write	183	Indigenous experience
'Gladys: Could you teach me, Errol? See, we had a school and good teachers at Cummeragunja at one time, that's why Mum has such beautiful handwriting, but then the mission managers were terrible and it was all downhill, and I got sent off to work for a family. A family of six and a big house to look	184	Indigenous experience / discrimination and oppression

RANDOWNS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

after- who had time for learning? Then I married Len and we were picking and along came the children, and then the war, and we were all so busy knitting for the war efforts and I thought I'd get around to learning from someone but they were all... so busy.' – Gladys on why she didn't learn to read or write
'Errol: It'd be an honour, Mrs Banks.' – Errol saying, he will teach Gladys how to read and write	184	Tolerance and understanding
'Gladys: She's changed. I am sorry, Errol. Errol: Then I'll have to change too. I'll prove to her I can. That I'm worthy of her	184	Tolerance and understanding / endurance and resilience

Act: 2 , Scene: 5, Pay The Rent

Summary: The rent collector, Mr Coody, comes. We find out Dolly is pregnant from the assault, and the rent collector want to change the arrangements due to the baby coming soon. Nan has an outburst and scares him away. Dolly wants to tell Nan that it was her cousin, Nan reveals she was assaulted by a Fisher (Errol's last name) before she married Papa Dear, and Gladys was born; so, Errol and Dolly are related. She feels better knowing she can love the baby like Nan loves Gladys. Gladys doesn't know.

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'She walks in, heavily pregnant, and stops dead when she sees the rent collector who looks with disdain at her body. Rent Collector: You're arrangements will need to be re-evaluated, with the impending new arrival. I'm not sure that the house is suitable for an extended family-'	185	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice / indigenous experience
'Nan Dear: [to herself] And hospitals is where they take your babies away.'	185	Indigenous experience
'Nan Dear: I don't care what you think! You and your visiting hours. Your rules. No singalongs after dark. Your spying. You, mister, can go to blazes! I'll give you 'one'... She raises an egg as he turns ...Two... Oh, hell, three... He runs. Nan chucks the eggs, one after another, at his departing form.'	186	Oppression, discrimination, and prejudice / family
'Nan Dear: You don't need to say a thing. I was your age once, too. And I even became a mother too when I was your age. Now that you're a woman I can tell you. Dolly smiles.-she's finally a woman in Nan's eyes. But her smile is tinged with sadness.' – Dolly wanted to tell Nan about the assault	186	Power and control / family
'Nan Dear: No, Dolly-See, I was walking home, taking a short-cut, and-and-and that lad- he took advantage of me... Dolly: What are you saying, Nan? Oh, Nan... not you... Nan Dear: Yes Dolly: Not you, too, Nan.' – Nan revealed she was also assaulted when she was young	187	Indigenous experience
'Dolly: ... I never did get to finish that. Now there'll be a new name to add to it. I was thinking Reg, or if it's a girl... Regina.	187	family

RANDOMS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

What do you think? Nan Dear: After Papa Dear? He'll be thrilled.' – about the family tree and naming the baby
'Dolly: He wanted to take me away. He didn't understand that I could never leave you. He thought he was some kind of knight in shining armour. And he wasn't. Beat Nan Dear: Sometimes you have to move on. Leave things behind... Even things you love. Beat Dolly: [softly] He said he wanted to marry me. Nan Dear: You can't marry him. Dolly: I hardly think he'd marry me now- Nan Dear: Because the lad, on the day war was declared, him name was- Dolly: What does that matter now? That was then- Nan Dear: -his name was Clem Fisher. Dolly: Fisher? Nan Dear: yes. Dolly: And Errol's a Fisher. Nan Dear: Yes Dolly: And they could be... related? Ah... I see...' – Dolly talking about why she was mad at Errol, and Nan revealing she may be related to him.	187/188	Family / tolerance and understanding

Act: 2 , Scene: 6, Errol Spills The Beans

Summary: Errol is teaching Gladys how to read; they are reading the inspectors report on them and the other families. Errol reveals he really likes Dolly. He wants to meet Papa Dear, so Gladys invites him to a speech he is doing in Melbourne

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme

Act: 2 , Scene: 7, The Petition

Summary: They all go to the meeting for Papa Dears petition. Dolly tells Errol she can't be with them. Nan talks to Errol and finds out that his family changed their name from a German one, so they are not related to any other Fishers, meaning Dolly and Errol aren't related. Papa Dear doesn't come in time so Gladys presents the speech, having helped write it and having learnt how to read. Nan and Gladys give their blessings for Errol to marry Dolly.

Quote – Character / Context	Page Number	Theme
'Dolly: [whispering] You should be up there making the speech, mum. Nan Dear: Gawd no, that's men's business.	191	Power and control / endurance and

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Dolly: Not always, Nan. What's women's business, anyways? Nan Dear: Family business, that's what. Dolly: [whispering] Keeping the secrets, you mean [to Gladys] I'm sorry, Mum, about the bank interview Gladys: [whispering] Well, why didn't you tell me about the nursing? My girl, a nurse! On a scholarship and all!' – Gladys is reciting the speech as its said		resilience / family
'Errol: Your cousin's baby? Dolly isn't sure how to answer Errol: Course not. That was a little boy. Dolly arranges the blankets in the pram tenderly, Errol looks searchingly at Dolly. Errol: She's not... Dolly [nodding] She is. Errol: Why didn't you tell me? Why didn't anyone tell me? Dolly? It's not your business. Errol: [stiffly] You're married then. Congratulations. Dolly: no need. He looks at her hand. No ring. He thinks hard Errol: Nine, ten months ago. That would've been around... Dolly: Please- Errol: The flood. That's why- Dolly: Please. Errol: I'm so slow on the uptake. Damn. I'm an idiot. Damn [Beat] Are you okay? Dolly: Yes, I'm okay Errol: Are you sure? Is there anything I can do? Of course, not- you can look after yourself. Dolly: most of the time. Errol: Dolly, I'm sorry. For everything. Dolly: Yes. Me too.' – Errol finds out about the baby and the assault	192/193	Tolerance and understanding / family
'Dolly: ... I'm sorry... as much as I... I just can't... I can't explain... but I can't do... this. She means her and him Errol: Are you sure? Really sure? She nods Errol: Then I'll respect your decision... and I wish you all the happiness in the world. You, and your lovely little daughter. And I hope we can at least be friends. Dolly: I'd... like that.'	193/194	Tolerance and understanding
'Errol: Actually, ma'am, my dad changed our surname after the war. After they emigrated here. It was originally Vischer. But we Germans weren't the most popular. People used to throw stones at our house. Nan Dear: Oh? They did? [She almost seems happy to hear this. It dawns on her] So you're a fake Fisher? Errol: 'Fraid so. Nan Dear: Not even a real one? Errol: 'Fraid not Nan Dear: Not related to any Fishers, even?	195	Family / prejudice and discrimination

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Errol: No, ma'am It dawns on Dolly and Nan simultaneously Dolly: That means... Nan Dear: Dead God. Thank goodness.' – Nan asks about Errol's last name and finds out he isn't a real Fisher, meaning he's not related to Dolly; Dolly overhears this
'Gladys: I will present the petition. [Tremulous] After all, me, and my father Papa Dear, we came up with this here petition together... Gawd, I'm nervous- [To an audience member] Oh, hi there, Auntie... She closes her eyes and without looking at the paper she begins. As you know, William Cooper tried to present a petition to King George a few years back, but it was refused. Maybe our current monarch will listen to what we have to say. Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth the Second, Queen of England and her territories. We humbly present this petition to you... [To herself] Why humbly? We've been humble too long. Anyway... [She continues confidently.] We request... [To herself] No, we don't, sorry Papa. [Continuing] We demand to be heard. Crowd: [offstage] Hear, hear. Gladys: Your Majesty, Queen Elizabeth the Second. We demand suitable housing for the Aboriginal people. [To herself] Yes, we got Rumbalara. And I'll be the first to admit, the idea sounded good. But have you seen it? Concrete. No doors inside-so, we don't need privacy, not like regular folk, is that it? We want decent houses. Mrs Windsor, would you live at Rumbalara? Then why is it good enough for us? Why do we have to prove we can live like whitefellas before we get the same opportunities? And, to boot, we're watched over like a bunch of cheeky kids... We're second- class citizens in our own country. No, we're not even citizens. Heavens, and this is the fifties! We demand the right to control our own destiny. Now how did Papa Dear word it...? She looks at the paper. She's lost her train of thought. She begins to panic. She's up in public, reading. She looks at the piece of paper wildly. Voice: [offstage] Do you need your glasses? Gladys: No. There is a sustained moment of tension, then she hesitatingly reads one word, then another, then another. 'We demand the right to make our own decisions, and not be at the whim of government, at the mercy of Protection Boards, at the vagary of landlords and property owners.' We demand proper schooling.' [To herself] And not just for us. [Continuing] 'The white people too-they need to be educated about us, and our ways.' She is reading more fluently now. Opportunities. We want jobs in town for our sons and daughters. We want them to go to universities. [To herself]	196/197/198	Power and control / oppression, discrimination and prejudice / endurance and resilience

RANDOWS END QUOTE TABLE AND SUMMARY

Yes! Not just high schools but universities! And why not? They say we can't learn, but we can. We can do anything once we set our minds to it, eh? We, the undersigned, demand to be the equal of anyone. And we will fight for that right. And keep fighting. Until we are treated right. By our neighbours and employers. By the Shire, by the Crown, by Mr Menzies.' [To herself] And if it's not him, then the next Prime Minister. Or the one after that. Lastly, and this isn't in the petition, but maybe it should be, I don't want my mother to be served last in the butcher's. And I want townsfolk to say, 'Hello, lovely day". Not cross the road to avoid us like we're lepers. [to her audience] We can get along with each other, can't we?... Goodness, I think I've said more than enough. But please, sign our petition. Come up to me afterwards. If you want e to read any part to you... I can. Thank you.' – Papa Dear showed up late so she presented the speech and petition instead.
'Nan Dear: Oh, for heaven's sake! Dolly, marry this boy, before someone else does—I saw your cousin Pauline eyeing him off. Dolly: What? Are you sure? Gladys: Mum, are you sure? Errol: Are you really sure? Nan Dear: Yes! Yes! Of course, I am. I can recognise a good man when I see one. ' – Nan dear gives her blessing now that she knows they aren't related to Errol	198	Family / tolerance and understanding